Advice To Challengers for Primary Elections

Each candidate on the Primary Election ballot can have one challenger at a time in a polling place. Candidates shall give each challenger a signed authorization.

Challengers must do their job without disrupting the Polling Place. The pace in the Polling Place is often very fast and it is hard for challengers to keep up. A Challenger does not have the right to demand that the voting process slow down because they are falling behind. The Challengers must keep up. A Challenger can look at the Election records, but not interfere or delay the processing of voters.

CHALLENGERS SHALL

- Give their authorization slip to the Inspector at the Polling Place
- Wear the official Challenger badge while in the Polling Place and give the badge to the Inspector when leaving.
- Sit where the Inspector tells them to sit.
- Be peace officers with the same powers of preserving the peace as Election Officers.
- Be protected in the discharge of their duty by the Election Officers.

CHALLENGERS MAY

- Watch the preparation of the Polling Place and the voting machines if they are present when the Election Officers are doing it.
- Watch the conduct of the election and look at all election records.
- Challenge a voter for any of the following reasons:

1. Identity. The person is not the person listed in the Department's records
2. Address. The voter does not live in the election district.
3. Bribery. The voter must take an oath (pink form) denying bribery before being permitted to vote.
4. Political party affiliation. Department of Elections records are the official and only source of this information.

Note: Challenges must be made before the person being challenged enters the voting machine. All challenges must be resolved by a majority vote of the Inspector and two Judges.

- Be present, along with other Challengers and any candidate on the ballot, during the closing of the polls.

Challengers and Challenges

In a General Election, each party represented by a candidate on the ballot for the Election District(s) in that Polling Place may have one challenger inside the Polling Place at a time. § 4934

What is a Challenge?

The questioning of a person's right to vote in the election. ANYONE in the Polling Place may challenge a voter's eligibility to vote BEFORE the voter enters the XL voting machine.

Handling Challenges:

Challenges can be issued based on the following reasons:

- Identity, Title 15, §4939- Does not believe the voter is who they claim to be. Challenges based on Identity are resolved by the opinion of a majority vote of the Inspector and Judges based on the identification provided by the voter.
- Bribery, Title 15, §4940- Believes the voter has accepted money or other valuables to vote in a particular way. Challenges based on Bribery are resolved by having the voter sign a Bribery Oath/Affirmation administered by the Inspector. The voter must sign the oath in order to resolve the challenge and proceed with the voting process.
- Residency, Title 15, §4941- Does not believe the voter lives where voter says they live. Challenges based on Residency are resolved by determining the voter's present place of residence. According to Delaware code, if a voter has moved outside of the State indefinitely, they may lose qualification of residence within the State regardless of any future intention to return at some time. Call the Voter Information Desk to confirm the voter's current registration status before proceeding.
 - If the voter has moved and is still registered to vote in the State of Delaware, the voter may vote at the Polling Place assigned to their current address.

Any challenge must be made and resolved before the voter being challenged is allowed to enter the XL voting machine.

The Inspector and Judges vote on challenges. Clerks do not vote. The Election Officers should consult with the Department of Elections if assistance is needed in handling a challenge.

Authorized Challengers:

- Challengers must present authorization from the Candidate to the Inspector.
- Challengers sign in/out on the Challenger Identification Form.
- Inspector provides the Advice to Challenger form to be read and returned.
- Inspector provides a Challenger badge. Challengers must always wear their badge.
- When a Challenger leaves the Polling Place, they sign out and return their badge to the Inspector.
- If a new Challenger arrives to switch places with an existing Challenger, you may allow them a few minutes to update one another on any relevant information before exiting the Polling Place.
- Challengers sit behind the Check-In Table.
- Once a voter's check-in process is complete, the Election Officers at the Check-In Table will announce the voter's name out loud so that Challengers can hear.
- If a Challenger issues a challenge, they notify the Inspector. The Inspector and two Judges will hear the dispute and decide the outcome before the voter enters the XL voting machine.

What Challengers May Do:

- Challengers have the right to hear the names of all voters. Election Officers should help them by stating the name of the voter loud enough for the Challenger to hear.
- Challengers may observe the election, look at each machine and record the public count numbers, and may use certain electronic devices such as a laptop or tablet (chargers are acceptable if it is not a tripping hazard). Election Officers are not permitted to keep lists for Challengers.
- Challengers may replace other Challengers throughout the day. If a new Challenger arrives to switch places with an existing Challenger, you may allow them a few minutes to update one another on any relevant information before exiting the Polling Place.
- Challengers may assist Election Officers in preserving the peace in the event of a disturbance.
- Challengers may approach the Check-In Table and be satisfied with all records being kept by the Election Officers.

What Challengers May Not Do § 4934(b):

- Talk on cell phones or use anything that makes a noise. (beep, chime, chirp, buzz, etc.)
- Take pictures or videos or record any sound in the Polling Place.
- Interfere, disturb, or unreasonably delay the election. If a Challenger is disruptive, they must first be warned by the Inspector or a Judge, who must state precisely the conduct that is objectionable. If the Challenger persists in being disruptive, the Inspector and Judges may vote to eject the Challenger. The Challenger may be replaced § 4934(b).
- Perform the duties of any Election Officer, instruct, or advise the Election Officers.
- Sit with the Election Officers.
